

WORLD CATHOLIC CONFERENCE LIKE N. C. W. C. PROPOSED

Union of Catholic Action Groups of All Nations Advocated to Work for Social and Cultural Advancement With No Authority.

By Dr. Frederic Funder
(Vienna Correspondent, N. C. W. C. News Service)

Vienna.—That Catholics of the world must unite to present a solid and cultural front, if the Church is to escape in the future, the attacks and persecutions that have developed in Spain and elsewhere, and, further, that the National Catholic Welfare Conference in the United States offers a prototype for such an organization, are declarations made by the Rev. Adalbert Bangha, S. J., distinguished spokesman and organizer of Hungarian Catholics, in an article he has just written for the Catholic review Schoenher Zukunft (Brighter Future).

Father Bangha's voice is one of the latest to be heard in that widespread discussion that has followed the attacks on monasteries in Spain, the persecution of Catholics in Lithuania and reminiscences of the sufferings of Mexican Catholics. The fury of the attacks against the Catholic Church, it has been declared, seems to be increasing from secret sources, and to such an extent that even solemnly protected concordats are not sufficient to protect the rights of the Church. The question that has been the central point of this resultant discussion is this: What is to be done to avoid still this greater distress? Father Bangha's article gives his answer.

World-Wide Catholic Action
What Father Bangha proposes is the founding of a corporation of Catholics of all countries, able to act as leaders and installed by the highest authorities—an Acta Catholica Mondialis. This Acta Catholica, extending over all the world, would form the nucleus for the undertakings which are to unite the Catholics of all countries in social unity and common work.

Father Bangha expressly states that the National Catholic Welfare Conference in the United States is the prototype of such a body—approved by the Church and directed by authority of the Church, an agency which embodies the two conditions of a forceful display of effectiveness: the mission from above and social and self-responsible activity.

Father Bangha asks how it is possible that Catholicism, which is worldwide and ought to be the strongest power in the world, must, it seems, suffer everything, including murder, bloodshed, robbery, abuse and calumny, while the whole world raises a general cry against barbarism and lack of culture if somewhere a hair on the head of a single citizen of a lesser nation is hurt. That this situation is possible, he says, demonstrates that there is lacking in Catholicism that solid social and cultural front and uniform organization which would make it a world force also outwardly.

None Vested With Authority
One would think, Father Bangha says, that nothing could be easier than to unite as one man so that at least in the case of important events, such as persecutions of the Church, the Catholic Press in all the world would be supplied with reliable information.

Elephants Descend On African Mission; Natives Have Feast

Nyeri, East Africa.—Driven out of the surrounding forest by gad-flies, which had become unusually annoying after the heavy spring rains, a group of nine Kenya elephants descended upon a mission compound at Consolata and began to feast upon the foliage of the mission trees.

Now the Consolata missionaries, who attend the needs of 14,000 Catholics in the Vicariate of Nyeri, could not accommodate such a large delegation of callers. Instead of pills, bandages and catechetical instruction, the poor beasts were given bullets. Four fell before the remainder of the herd fled. For the next few days the mission compound resembled a public meat market. Natives came and helped themselves to choice cuts and took away great pieces of soft white elephant fat, which they put to a hundred and one uses.

Nun, Heir to Will, Is Sought by Trustees

Chicago.—A sister of the late Leo Darmstadt, of Fort Worth, Texas, whose will named her to share in his estate is being sought in this city. The sister, whose given name is not known by the trustees, is known to be a nun in some religious institution in the Chicago area, but neither the order to which she belongs nor her name in religion is known.

Numerous Appeals For Shrines Scored By Catholic Paper

New York.—Commercial appeals for funds to erect countless "shrines" throughout the country are assailed in an article in the current number of America, a Catholic review of the week. Published in the department which bears the title "With Scrip and Staff," a weekly feature of the magazine, the article says:

"The remarkable thing about these many new shrines that have come to light in the last few weeks, is the uniformity of the appeals. Not only an almost identical letter is issued for each of them; but even the stationery is similar, and in many cases the addressing machine which stamped the envelope.

"The letter begins with some pious formula, such as 'May the grace and peace of the Holy Ghost be with us forever!' Then the might of the heavenly patron is declared; pretty much to the disadvantage of other heavenly patrons. We are keenly interested in your personal problems and your spiritual welfare. We are anxious to help you in a prayerful way. Mass follows Mass here, Novena follows Novena for our benefactors, living and dead. We wish to help you if you have anxiety or distress. You then send either your contribution, or your name. It is then signed 'Yours sincerely in Mary Immaculate, or 'Prayerfully in St. Joseph,' etc., and it is invariably 'Father Smith,' 'Brother Alphonse,' who signs his name with a rubber stamp. Some offer at once enrollment of living and dead in an Association, some are only in the first stage of the procedure, and seek just the list of names.

"Art medals, richly engraved certificates, pearl rosaries, etc., are furnished. And the approbation of any Bishop is conspicuously absent. The address on the envelope is frequently distorted; and if one of these 'shrines' sends its appeal, appeals for others usually follow.

"Our country has a great and worthy national shrine in process of erection; the Shrine of Mary Immaculate at the Catholic University in Washington. There is room for many a local shrine, especially where historical circumstances call for one, and the authorities of the Church have vouchsafed for its need and appropriateness. But such unauthorized projects bring the genuine shrines into disrepute, and impose a hardship on our struggling home and foreign missions; they are unfair to those who refuse to make use of such means, and are far from giving glory to God or to His Saints."

Bishop Sees Antipathy Against China Missions Among Masses Waning

Kongmoon, South China.—Questioned recently as to the present outlook for mission work in this sector of China, the Rt. Rev. James E. Walsh, M. M., of Cumberland, Md., Vicar Apostolic of the Maryknoll Kongmoon mission field, said:

"The strong anti-mission propaganda of recent years seems to have abated, without, however, ceasing to exist. Many do not love the missions. But in spite of the antipathy that lingers in certain quarters, the great masses of the people do not appear to cherish any special dislike for missions.

"A little less politeness perhaps, a little more ridicule at times, a slightly colder shoulder in general—these mark the difference over former years. At bottom there is no great enmity; even there can usually be plucked the old time graciousness."

SPAIN MUST REVISE NEW CONSTITUTION OR VOID CONCORDAT

Certain of the Proposed Articles Make Pact With Holy See Impossible—Ninety Catholics in Cortes to Defend Rights.

By Rev. Manuel Grana
(Madrid Correspondent, N. C. W. C. News Service)

Madrid.—Modification of provisions inserted in the tentative draft of the new Constitution for Spain, to make possible a Concordat in the future between Republican Spain and the Holy See, is the task facing the session of the Cortes, the national assembly.

A check-up of the results of the recent election reveals that the Catholics will be represented by a group of cultured and well-educated deputies, among them eight members of the clergy, who will oppose any provisions in the Constitution which are not in accord with the Catholic spirit of Spain.

Evidence that certain strong groups in the Parliament will support the wishes of the Catholic leaders is to be found in the fact that already the Basques and the Catalonians have requested that they be permitted to enter into special Concordats with the Vatican. It is not expected that the Republican Government will countenance these separate Concordats, but agitation in their favor is considered proof that the country at large is opposed to certain provisions in the proposed Constitution which would make a general Concordat impossible.

Catholics Have 90 Seats

Although the complete results of the election cannot yet be precisely stated, there are some phases of the returns which give some reassurance. The Socialists provided the greatest surprise. They repeatedly said they would win only about 50 seats in the Cortes, yet they won about 130. There is some feeling that they abused the position they occupied before the election. The Socialists, however, hardly seem at this time very revolutionary. On the contrary, they are regarded as the strongest bulwark against communism and syndicalism, represented by the National Confederation of Labor and the so-called Agrarian Communists.

Next comes the Lerroux party, with 100 deputies seated. Next are the Catholics of the Right, who apparently have won 90 seats. The Republicans of the Right will have about 75 votes in the Cortes, and the Radical Republicans about 50.

Minister of State Lerroux, who received the greatest number of votes and who seems to have become the most powerful individual in Spanish politics, has earned the enmity of the extreme radicals. Although he has ever been a revolutionary and a radical, his post-election declaration that he will not ally himself with the extreme wing has been received with pleasure by the conservatives.

Catholic Students Win First Six Prizes In Contest On History

Oxnard, Calif.—The first six prizes in the recent history contest, sponsored by the American Legion, among 500 pupils of the public and private schools of Ventura County, were won by Catholic school children.

Three of the six prizes went to students in St. Claire's school, and three to students of Holy Cross school, here.

Depression Brings New Problems For Catholic Charities

Washington.—The current depression is taxing Catholic children's homes very severely, it was stated at the office of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, recently, in connection with an announcement of topics to be considered at the annual meeting of the Conference to be held at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., September 27 to October 1. Most of the Catholic children's homes are crowded to the doors, it was said, and the increase in the number of children needing care in many places has raised the question of the need of additional facilities of one kind or another.

Over 10,000 at Czech Catholic "Gym" Meet

Prague.—Ten thousand people, according to a conservative estimate, have attended the festival of the OREL, Czechoslovak Catholic gymnastic association, just held at Hodonin (Goeding), Czechoslovakia.

The fete lasted for two days and connected with it was an interesting exhibit of national folklore, costumes and customs preserved by the Catholic population in rural districts near Hodonin.

Chinese Priest Accepts Death to Save Parish

By M. Massani
(Paris Correspondent, N. C. W. C. News Service)

Paris.—The heroic death of a Catholic priest, a native Chinese Annamite, Father Khang, slain by the communists, is related by Father Lemais, vicar general of the Bishopric of Hue, who has just arrived at Marseilles, returning to France for his first vacation after 33 years in Indo-China.

The tragedy took place in a village of the province of Hatinh. Placed at the head of a parish since his ordination, Father Khang had fostered a flourishing parish life among numerous compatriots. Two communist leaders approached him on May 2, and without a word fired at him, but without hitting him. Father Khang took refuge in his little church, and numbers of the faithful came to his assistance. Shortly, the two leaders returned, at the head of some thousands of Annamite peasants. They threatened to pillage the village if Father Khang would not quit the church.

The priest, without hesitation and in spite of the entreaties of the faithful, left the church at once. He was slain by the communist horde, which then slowly departed after threatening the village.

The French authorities were advised of the murder and the village where the assassins recruited most of their accomplices was punished.

Fort Wayne Clergy Return From Europe

Following a three months' trip abroad, the Rev. Michael Andrew Chapman of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, Fort Wayne, and the Rev. Arnold J. Wibbert, of St. Peter's, Fort Wayne, landed in New York on July 15th on the SS. Conte Biancamano of the Lloyd Sabaudo line, having embarked at Nice, France.

Father Wibbert arrived in the city on Wednesday and is at St. Peter's rectory. During his absence he toured Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, France and Belgium. A feature of his journey in France was a visit at the world-famed Shrine of Lourdes in the Pyrenees. Father Chapman also visited the Shrine, besides places in Switzerland, but spent most of his time in Italy, particularly in Rome, where he was engaged in gathering material for a new book he proposes to write on Italian festivals.

Concerning the situation between the Vatican and Mussolini, leader of the Fascists, Father Wibbert is of the opinion that the time is not distant when the conditions will be happily adjusted. Conditions were serious in Germany at the time of his trip through that country. During his absence he was appointed pastor of a new parish in Ambridge, Gary. After a stay at St. Peter's, the parish is to be organized in Gary if conditions are favorable.

12 HIGH PRELATES AT INSTALLATION OF BISHOP URBAN VEHR

Colorado Governor, Denver Mayor, Honoring New Ordinary, Speak at Civic Banquet — Bishop Is Lauded for Episcopate in State.

Denver, Colo.—The Rt. Rev. Urban J. Vehr, J. C. L., was installed as Bishop of Denver at the Cathedral, here, in the presence of 12 members of the Hierarchy, six monsignors, 137 priests, and a large gathering of the laity.

The installation was the high mark of a two-day celebration marking the enthronement of the new Denver prelate and the retirement of the Rt. Rev. J. Henry Thien. The Mass in the Cathedral was celebrated by Msgr. Thien.

The members of the Hierarchy present were the Most Rev. Albert T. Daeger, Archbishop of Santa Fe, and the Most Rev. John T. McNichols, O. P., Archbishop of Cincinnati; and the Rt. Rev. Louis B. Kucera, Bishop of Lincoln; the Rt. Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, Bishop of Omaha; the Rt. Rev. Francis Johannes, Bishop of Leavenworth; the Rt. Rev. Henry P. Rohlfman, Bishop of Davenport; the Rt. Rev. Rudolph A. Gerken, Bishop of Amarillo; the Rt. Rev. John J. Mitty, Bishop of Salt Lake City; the Rt. Rev. Anthony J. Schuler, S. J., Bishop of El Paso; the Rt. Rev. Daniel J. Gercke, Bishop of Tucson, and the Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Bishop of Cleveland.

The new Bishop arrived here early in a special train and was met at the station by many members of the local clergy. The Bishop was then taken to the episcopal residence.

Puts Mottoes Together.

Msgr. Thien delivered the installation sermon, and in the course of his address, pointed out that the mottoes of the successive bishops of Denver, when placed together, read: "Mary Helping in this sign conquer that all may be one in Truth and Charity."

Msgr. Vehr spoke on three different occasions—once after the Mass, once at the luncheon given the clergy of the Diocese by the Cathedral parish, and once at the civic banquet held in his honor.

The Rev. Dr. William O'Ryan, Pastor of St. Leo's Church and a Counselor of the Diocese, also spoke at the luncheon.

In the evening Msgr. Vehr was welcomed at a civic banquet, which was attended by the visiting members of the hierarchy and of the clergy, many of the laity, and about 100 prominent non-Catholic guests.

A gift of an automobile and a purse were presented to the Bishop by the clergy in the course of the banquet.

Former Bishop Lauded

Monsignor Thien was honored at a brilliant banquet in the course of which gifts of over $7,300 and 325 Masses were given to the retiring prelate. Speakers at the banquet praised the Bishop for his distinguished work in building up the seminary and promoting the Catholic Press.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Bosetti announced at the banquet that Msgr. Thien in the course of his 14 years in Colorado, had confirmed 67,167 persons and had given major or minor orders to 510.

China Missioner's Test Of Catechumens' Faith

Chiklung, South China.—Catechumens of the Maryknoll Chiklung mission in South China are put to a convincing test before they are admitted to the Sacraments.

The pastor, the Rev. George Bauer, M. M., has them sign a document in which they profess their belief in God and promise to renounce pagan superstitions. The chart is then posted where all may read it.

It requires real courage and conviction to run the risk of so much loss of "face" with pagan relatives and friends, and the test effectually eliminates any catechumens who had not previously understood the sacrifices demanded of them by the Catholic Faith.

Nevada Is Represented In Bishop's Escutcheon

Los Angeles, Calif.—One of the features of the Coat of Arms of Bishop-elect Thomas K. Gorman, of the new Diocese of Reno, is a symbol of the Sierra Nevada, from which the State of Nevada takes its name.

The emblem, which is on the left side of the shield, consists of three mountain peaks, each surmounted by a cross typifying the influence of religion. This influence is further suggested by the green valley at the base of the cross-crowned mountains, watered from the snowy peaks and portraying the vivifying effects of divine grace in the souls of men.

Dates and Subjects Of 3 "Catholic Hour" Speakers Announced

Washington.—The dates and general themes of the addresses to be delivered by the three next speakers in the Catholic Hour were announced recently. The Catholic Hour is sponsored by the National Council of Catholic Men and is broadcast over a network of the National Broadcasting Company.

The Rev. John A. McCloy, S. J., lecturer and writer of the University of Detroit, will begin his series of eleven addresses on Sunday, August 2, and will continue up to and including Sunday, October 11. His general theme will be "The Parables." His addresses, it was said, will be dramatic and vivid applications of the parables to modern religious and social life.

The Rev. James M. Gillis, C. S. P., Editor of The Catholic World, will begin his series of addresses in the Catholic Hour on Sunday, October 18, and will continue to be the speaker up to and including Sunday, December 20. Father Gillis' addresses will relate to Christ as an influence in the lives of men and in all human activities.

The Rev. Dr. Fulton J. Sheen, Professor of Philosophy of Religion at the Catholic University of America, will begin his series of addresses on Sunday, December 27, and will conclude on Easter Sunday, March 27. Dr. Sheen's addresses also will have as their general theme Christ in daily life.

All three of these speakers appeared in the Catholic Hour in 1930. Dr. Sheen was the first speaker after Cardinal Hayes and Bishop Schrembs had inaugurated the Hour.

The Rev. Dr. Edward J. Walsh, C. M., Vice President of St. John's College, Brooklyn, will give the last of his current series of eleven addresses in the Catholic Hour on Sunday, July 26. In keeping with its practice in the past, the National Council of Catholic Men will publish Dr. Walsh's addresses in pamphlet form.

Sisters of the Holy Cross Hold General Chapter Meeting

Creation of new provinces to care for the rapidly expanding work of the Sisters of the Holy Cross congregation is expected at the sexennial general chapter meeting now engaging the attention of the order at the mother house, St. Mary's, Notre Dame, Ind.

The sessions, which are being attended by the Rt. Rev. John Francis Noll, D. D., bishop of Fort Wayne diocese, opened Thursday and will continue daily until next Saturday when appointments of superiors are announced. Assignments to teaching and other positions in the schools, orphanages and colleges of the order will be made August 15.

Just what will be the result of the deliberation on the provinces is uncertain, but it is understood a plan is being considered for the establishment of a new one on the Atlantic coast and another on the Pacific.

The Sisters of the Holy Cross, a branch of the Sisters Maristines of the Holy Cross founded by Father Basile Moreau in LeMans, France, in 1841, to operate with the work of the Congregation of the Holy Cross, have operated under one province since becoming a distinct body in this country in 1869. The order now has 73 houses in the United States and one mission in Bengal, India, with nearly 1,000 sisters.

Among the appointments will be the president and dean of women of St. Mary's college and academy, the incumbents being Mother M. Pauline and Sister M. Claudia, respectively, who were elected for their sixth consecutive six year terms at the last general chapter meeting in 1925.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL SEES LACK OF FAITH IN PLEASURE 'CRAZE'

Addressing Daughters of Isabella at Boston Convention Prelate Warns Against "Indulgence In One's Own Infirmities."

Boston, Mass.—Addressing the Daughters of Isabella following the Solemn High Mass with which their National Circle was opened in St. Cecilia's church, His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, held up to the delegates the ideal of true Catholic womanhood and warned against present-day indulgence in vices and fashions and the insatiable pursuit of pleasure.

"I consider this a very remarkable gathering assembled here today in a great and holy cause," the Cardinal said. "Just at this season, when the world at large is thinking mostly of itself, its amusements and its pleasures, it is certainly significant to find a body of Catholic women giving their time and their effort for the good of others, thinking not of themselves and of their own comfort, but of the welfare of the state, of the individual and of the Church."

Membership Brings Responsibility
Then, saying that he was proud of the work the Daughters of Isabella are doing and asking God's blessing upon it, His Eminence continued:

"Remember, my dear women, that membership in your order brings you responsibility as well as honor. If you look at the world about you you will see nothing but confusion. What has caused it? Lack of faith first of all, and after that, indulgence in one's own infirmities and fashions, the insatiable desire for pleasure, and the ignoble sacrifice of everything that is really noble in man and woman.

To think only of one's own comforts, conveniences, and luxuries is degradation pure and simple. That reduces a man or a woman below the level of the beasts of the field, for they at least serve some other purpose than this.

"Now, my dear women, what is your responsibility? You know perfectly well that one of the greatest evils in this country and in fact all over the world is the chase after pleasure. Men and women seem to be thinking of nothing else these days. A chase, I say, after pleasure, not the enjoyment of happiness, for that, of course, they never find, because happiness is not to be found in the gratification of the senses.

"To find pleasure in high ideals, to expend the energies of mind and soul and heart in doing good for others is the Christian idea of life. But unfortunately in the world today how many thousands do we find thinking of vanity, eating, drinking, dressing and amusements."
